Description

One Senior Place is a modern 13,000 square foot building in the heart of the Viera medical district designed to help seniors and their family caregivers to find the information, advice, care and services they need all in one location. The building incorporates the best features of an office building, a senior resource library, and themed "elder services only" shopping mall.

Why It Made The List

In case you haven't noticed, the median age of people living in Brevard County is going up. Currently, about twenty-five percent of the county's population is age sixty and older, and the baby boomers are just beginning to join them. In 15 years, nearly 1-in-3 Space Coast residents will be 60 years or older.

Fortunately, local entrepreneur Don Kramer recognized this exploding demographic trend and developed One Senior Place, a timely and groundbreaking concept in an emerging business sector that is crying out for innovation.

One Senior Places offers access to a wide range of care, services and products just for seniors, as well as a Senior Resource Library with free use of computers, printers and telephones, and a trained Elder Care Manager on-site to answer customer questions.

With accessible meeting space in the Viera area in short supply, One Senior Place opens its conference and meeting facilities for seminars, social events and community and non-profit functions, including hosting a weekly active senior group, One Senior Club.
